Heath Village Resident

Publishes Novella

Murder? A Memoir: A Cate May Mystery

Washington Township -- Heath Village resident Susan Sumner found an interesting way to spend her time during the quarantine - she decided to try her hand at writing a book. The result was the creation of a novella titled: Murder? A Memoir: A Cate May Mystery.

The pandemic, social-distancing, and the political climate of 2020 add to the tension in this quirky mixture of mystery, philosophy, and humor.

A quick and lighthearted read, the story is set in “Golden Oaks,” a fictitious retirement community where several residents died suddenly under unexplained circumstances. The main character is white-haired 85-year-old resident sleuth Cate May who decides to investigate their untimely passing. She does so with help from her three young grandchildren.

Along the way, Cate shares some useful information for anyone considering moving to a retirement community as well as some profound bits of wisdom about human nature and life.

Murder? A Memoir is available for purchase as a paperback or e-book through amazon.com.

Sumner is already at work on her second Cate May story.

*Heath Village is a full-service, not-for-profit, retirement community located at 430 Schooley’s Mountain Road in Washington Township, Morris County.
